

DAY 1 Michael Lucken On the Politics of Memory in East Asia: Singapore, Nanjing, Okinawa | David Serfass Memory as Power: China's WW2 Narrative in a Changing Global Order | Arnaud Nanta Evolving Nanking Massacre's Historiography: the Trajectory of Revisionism in Japanese Historiography to the Present Day | Christina Wu Violence and Subversion in Syonan: Oral Histories and the Politics of Commemoration of Singapore under the Japanese Occupation (1942-1945) | Karl Hack Commemorating Chinese Heroes and Martyrs: Malaysian/Singaporean Plural Memories of the Japanese Occupation, 1945 to Present | Kosuke Mizuno The Romusha System During the Japanese Occupation of Indonesia | David Delfolie The Dynamics of the Diachronic Construction of Plural Memories of the Japanese Occupation in Malaysia | Ethan Mark Anti-colonial Fascism: Japanese Military Training in Indonesia and its Postwar Legacies

DAY 2 Elsa Lafaye de Micheaux Reawakening Memories: the Socio-Political Trajectory of the Testimony of Sybil Kathigasu, A Eurasian Catholic Who Resisted the Japanese Occupation | Law Siak Hong The Patient Creation of A Lieu de Mémoire (Place of Memory) in Southeast Asia: 74 Main Street, Papan, Perak | Rémy Madinier, Michel Chambon, and Truly Estrelita (Round Table) Reconsidering Relations Between Catholicism and Communist Movements Since the Japanese Occupation | Kek Huat Lau (Film screening) From Island to Island, 2024.

INALCO PARIS

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

19/20
MARCH 2026

THE LEGACIES OF THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION IN SOUTHEAST ASIA

Memory, Politics, and International Relations in the Asia Pacific

Image : 1945. Singapore. Women in a camp bow to the Japanese after roll call (Leiden University Libraries, Netherlands)

Conception Graphique : ADev